Eligibility recommended            Eligibility not recommended X

Criteria:   A   B   C   D Considerations:   A   B   C   D   E   F   G   None

Justification for decision: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map)

Located at 701 Singer Road, Emmorton, Highland consisted of a late nineteenth century frame dwelling and twentieth century silo and pole barn. According to the project sponsor, the dwelling was destroyed by fire several years ago. The only remaining features of the property are the concrete silo and pole barn. The two agricultural buildings are common property types and do not exhibit distinctive characteristics of design. Because of the loss of the dwelling, the property does not retain sufficient integrity of design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling and association to be eligible for the National Register.

Documentation on the property/district is presented in: MD Inventory of H.P., compliance file

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Highland is a two story ell-shaped frame house with a shed porch built about 1880 on the south side of Singer Road about 1/4 mile east of Winters Run near Emmorton, Harford County, Maryland. The main elevation faces north.

The house is a good example of the "homestead" type of vernacular farmhouse which was popular in rural areas in the last quarter of the 19th century and the first decade of the 20th century. The house is an ell shape with a rear wing containing the kitchen. The main elevation is dominated by the right angle of the ell with a shed porch in the angle. The main entrance is in the inner part of the angle. The porch has chamfered posts. The windows are 4/4. A small round quadripartite porthole window is in the north gable face at the attic level. A square window is located next to the main entry.

The foundation is stone and brick chimneys rise from the center of the house. The exterior is clapboard and the main roof and porch roof are composition material.

Behind the house about 50 yards south is a small frame smokehouse with board and batten siding. It formerly stood nearer the house, but in recent years was moved to its present location and remodeled for use as a Scout clubhouse.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Highland is a good example of vernacular rural architecture in the late 19th century. Except for changes in the windows and roof covering, the general appearance of the house is unchanged from the time of its construction.

Highland was part of the McHenry family property which included Monmouth Farm (HA-703-712) and the parcel on which the Bell House (HA-713) stands. Henry Wilson of the Wilson family of Woodside (HA-693-696; National Register) bought the property in 1874. In the early part of the 20th century under another owner, the farm was known as Highland Place.

Frame farmhouse, clapboard covered,
 T shaped, 2 stories, 2 bays by 2 in either part.
 The A shape <sup>slate</sup> roof has wide eaves.

Both parts of the house appear to be of the same age, perhaps about 1850-70, with large panes, 4 lights over 4 in the windows.
~~The stem of the T runs east-west, the~~ cross bar north-south overlooking a fine view to the west <sup>across</sup> ~~the~~ <sup>Waters Run.</sup> Entrance is from a porch on the north side of the house. The porch on the south is adjoined.
